11 MEN KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

PELLEY CALLS MANY NOTABLES

Transport Used For Army Training Falls Near Minneapolis Port

INDIANAPOLIS, July 30—Eleven men were believed killed today when a transport plane used for Army training purposes crashed and burned at Wold-Chamberlain field South of Minneapolis.

Actually, it was disclosed, the unity of command has been vested in the Navy since prior to the June 3 attack by Japanese bombers and three more were believed to be in the debris.

The first seven to be identified were named as employees of Northwest airlines which has undertaken to train men for Army transport commands.

They were: P. Kenneth Olson, of Minneapolis, formerly of Rice Lake, Wis., and John Fischer, of Fremont, O.

Leonard O. Larson, mechanic. Lee D. Husley, mechanic.

Wilbur C. Rose, junior mechanic. Paul F. Parlie, junior mechanic. Winston A. Luchau, junior mechanic.

The big multi-motored plane plummeted to earth only seconds after taking off at 7:45 a. m. Witnesses said the plane appeared to hesitate in the air and then dived sharply downward from a height of but 200 feet or less.

Emergency field equipment was rushed to the scene, but so intense was the heat from the burning debris that would-be rescuers could not approach.

VICTORVILLE, Cal., July 30—Two twin-engined bombardment training planes, with a group of Los Angeles newspapermen and Army officers aboard, collided in mid-air over Lucerne Dry Lake last night, killing a civilian photographer and a sergeant pilot, military authorities announced early today.

Another civilian photographer was reported missing.

The body of Staff Sergeant Rodney H. Grim, 20, Ophelm, Mont., was identified. Another body was found in the wreckage but it was unidentified.

The feat could moreover be performed without a break in his production schedule for ocean-going vessels, Kaiser assured the committee.

Not even waiting for a government "go ahead," the dynamic builder said he has already put 45 engineers and designers to work on the plan and that the aircraft manufacturers are so enthusiastic over the preliminary picture that they have offered him as many of their own men as he needs.

PHILADELPHIA, July 30—Lieut. B. A. Passanante, Philadelphia Army flier who lost a leg on the opening day of the war when Jap planes bombed an airfield in Luzon, believes in nothing less than 100 percent bond sales.

"You can boast of 98 percent buying bonds," he told a rally last night, "but remember, it's 100 percent of the boys who go over the top... it's 100 percent of the boys who fight for you and who risk their lives daily."

"I don't believe in capital punishment. I think it is unnecessary and all wrong. It accomplishes no good. Killing one won't prevent others from the same plight as mine."

right to trial in the civil court, but to this Biddle answered: "This is total war."

He, in effect, asked the high court to disregard legal precedents so that justice of 1942 could be as swift as the total war now flaming throughout the world.

Hearing Held Up
The military commission, which already has spent 16 days in hearing testimony from the spies, was scheduled to have resumed its sessions today but they were postponed because of the Supreme Court hearing.

Only seven of the spies are trying to escape through the Supreme Court action. They are Herbert Haupt, Ernest Burger, Heinrich Heinkel, John Edward Kerling, Hermann Neubauer, Richard Quirin and Werner Thiel.

The eighth, George John Dasch, did not appeal. Apparently he hopes to get off, because it is reported, he has turned state's evidence.

Haupt and Burger claimed American citizenship but Biddle told the court that the two saboteurs had forfeited their citizenship by going to the German sabotage school near Berlin where they were schooled in mass murder and destruction. Besides, Biddle argued, the saboteurs were assigned to German army units and any American who joins the army of any enemy power automatically forfeits citizenship.

Col. Royall, in arguing for the defense, made the sensational statement that some of the spies claimed that they joined the sabotage plot only as a means to escape from Germany and they did not intend to carry it out once they set foot on American soil.

Burt Haupt, 22, the youngest and described as the surliest of the saboteurs, had the brazenness to go to FBI headquarters in Chicago and lie about his draft status. But he didn't tell anything about the sabotage scheme, according to Biddle.

SCHOOL BOARDS FACE PROBLEM; TEACHERS QUIT

Five More Resignations Sent To McDowell's Office In Last 24 Hours

Teaching problem in county schools took on new significance Thursday with five more resignations received by George McDowell, superintendent. He announced employment of two instructors at the Williamsport board meeting, Wednesday evening. At present there are 13 vacancies existing in the rural school staffs and McDowell states that if no more teachers leave the system before August 1 the situation will not become acute.

Teachers hired by the Williamsport board are James Ferguson, New Boston, Ohio, who is a graduate of Ohio university. He will teach high school subjects and serve as principal. He has been employed in the New Boston system for the last several years. James Kirkpatrick, a graduate this year of Capital university, has been employed as coach and history and biological science teacher. Kirkpatrick whose home is in Columbus, has been supervising the Grandview Heights playground this summer.

Further resignations to be received by the office include Kenneth List, employed as principal at the Scioto school. List will assume duties in the Troy system. He has spent nine years in the Williamsport school and during the last term was teaching at York in Union county.

Margaret Smith, commercial and Latin instructor at Williamsport, has resigned to take a job in the Jeffersonville schools and will leave another vacancy in the staff at that school. Edna Thresher, music teacher at New Holland, will take a post as superintendent of elementary music in the Cincinnati schools this fall.

Eleanor Ralston has notified the board that she will transfer from Walnut township to the Wooster schools for the coming year. She was head of the sixth grade at the rural school. William Gatten will work for the railroad this fall as a brakeman, and leave his sixth grade post at Scioto township.

New Holland's board of education will meet Thursday evening to discuss teachers.

McDowell states that there have been daily special meetings of various boards, for the last two weeks, to consider teaching problems.

Word has been received of the resignation of John Kirkwood, coach of athletics at Clarksburg. Kirkwood was recently appointed a junior officer at the federal reformatory at Chillicothe.

RECEIPTS JUMP, PRICES STEADY AT LOCAL SALE

Despite the fact that receipts took a sudden jump upwards, prices at the Wednesday auction market here were generally 20 to 30 cents lower. In all cases receipts were considerably higher than those of last week but prices in all fields, but those paid for some cattle, took drops of several points.

Cattle prices remained fairly steady with the top price for good steers and heifers being $14.10. Chicago's market listed a top of $14.75 for Wednesday. No definite explanation was given for the drop in prices but the increased supply of livestock can be attributed to the fact that farmers are through with their harvest of wheat and can find time to bring their stock to market.

BEACH DIAMONDS

AN Australian native woman, looking over the beach at Carnot Bay, in northwestern Australia, for cigarette butts, discovered a small tube containing diamonds. She hid it and went on looking for butts. When a military inspection party turned up, she thought they had learned about her find by magic, so she produced it for them. The diamonds were worth about $40,000.

It was not magic which led the white man to seek the diamond hoard, but the knowledge that a beachcomber had some weeks ago found an even greater treasure and had turned it in to the authorities when he enlisted. There was also basic information that a large consignment of gems had been flown out of Java by the Java Bank of Commerce in a plane which had been shot down by the Japanese in late March.

The literature of the world are full of tales of treasure trove—jewels in buried cities, gold in sunken ships—but this idea of planes dropping diamonds onto beaches from the air comes with one of those strange little shocks which are shaking us into the knowledge that this is a new world. Here's fresh material for the mystery writers—who will undoubtedly make the most of it.

LEAHY AND HALLECK

ADMIRAL Leahy's appointment as chief of staff to President Roosevelt will, it is to be hoped, turn out far better than the choice made in the Civil War by Lincoln.

Recognizing his lack of military knowledge, Lincoln chose as his adviser, with the title of general-in-chief, Henry W. Halleck, a West Point graduate who had written military textbooks and had been thought of as his successor by Winfield Scott, the distinguished veteran who commanded our armies at the outbreak of the war. For nearly two years, from July 11, 1862, to March 12, 1864, Halleck held this position. Apparently a good selection, Halleck turned out badly. A good organizer, he lacked large strategic ability; and whatever advice he gave Lincoln usually proved to be bad. It was a fortunate day when he turned over his post as general-in-chief to Ulysses S. Grant.

There is no reason at all for expecting Leahy to be another Halleck and every reason to expect good results from him. Halleck's career merely shows how hard it is to tell a general's future from his past.

Reassuring recollection: Three months before Germany collapsed in the last war, the Kaiser seemed to be sitting on top of the world.

WASHINGTON.—"Russians are retreating stubbornly," said a Moscow dispatch the other day, bringing news of the campaign on the Caucasus front.

"Chinese have successfully evacuated positions in Chekiang province," reported a message from Chung King, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's capital.

"Germans advance with enormous losses," came a British report awhile ago from North Africa. That was farther back than the other two. The Nazis are pretty stationary in that area at present. However, the official version had to discount their progress somehow, as long as they continued to be making more or less of it.

That's how these war stories are related to us.

I've no doubt the same kind of guff is dashed out to the Berlin Press and to Rome's and Tokyo's.

The idea's to sustain national morale, on whichever side it requires sustenance. The only trouble with it is that it reciprocally is so meaningless. Retreating stubbornly! But retreating. Evacuating positions successfully! But evacuating 'em. Enormous los-sing. Pan-Americanly.

But an advance accompanying 'em. The fact is that heaven alone knows how the war's developing.

No. Maybe, besides heaven, the actual fighters know. But the conflicting countries' various respective civilian publics don't.

U. S. Public Up in Air

The American public doesn't, anyway. European and Asiatic publics probably have quite an inkling. They're on short rations already. Think of Germany—with-out beer! Think of England—with-out tea per person!

It's starting to hit us, too, though.

I guess I don't realize it, not being an automobile. Rubber and gas are immaterial to me.

Yet there are forms of food that I'm addicted to, and will I be able to keep on getting 'em? My wearing apparel is almost worn out. Will there be more available? And fuel, as the weather cools off? What'll it cost?—I'd like to know. It would pay me to do my buying now in anticipation of a price hike, but it's an identical rule that applies to EVERYTHING—my prospective overcoat, my winter underwear, my wife's stuff. Fortunately I'm too old to have babies, but I've got grandchildren.

And those grandchildren I've got to contribute to in Mexico City—in the United States diplomatic service.

I'm stung all around—so to speak. Pan-Americanly.

FAILURE TO PREPARE HIT

WASHINGTON.—The question of preparing and defending San Francisco against Jap air raids has been the subject of a hot behind-the-scenes debate between the War Department and straight-from-the-shoulder Judge William Denman of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Judge Denman, who served as Woodrow Wilson's Shipping Board Chairman, has been bounding the War Department regarding the failure of Lieut. Gen. John L. DeWitt to train residents of San Francisco in the evacuation of the city in case of a bombing attack.

During the Summer, Judge Denman points out, a blanket of fog sweeps in on San Francisco from the Pacific, providing exactly the same type of screen which Jap planes used in bombing Dutch Harbor, Alaska. And the War Department has admitted that even one Jap plane could carry three or four thousand phosphorus wafers which could start fires equal to those caused by the San Francisco earthquake.

With zero visibility at night because of fog, Judge Denman contends, evacuation would be extremely difficult unless planned for in advance.

"Our letters have not suggested that Gen. DeWitt is not competent to destroy assailing Japanese," Judge Denman wrote to the War Department. "We are concerned with his plan, by which our women and children and sick and aged may be burned alive by action by Japanese before they (the attackers) are destroyed."

SIMILAR TO TOKYO

After reminding Assistant Secretary of War McCloy that San Francisco was built of frame houses and had the highest fire insurance rate in "the white world," Judge Denman warned:

"What for seven months Gen. DeWitt has contemplated doing is to wait until this conflagration existed, and then, for the first time, place officers and soldiers, unfamiliar with the hills, valleys and ravines of San Francisco, in its streets. They then, for the first time, would attempt to direct the citizens, by that time panic stricken and choking with smoke, to the exits which he would then choose for their evacuation.

"The fact that during seven months there has been no training of soldiers or of the people, and no signals or sirens or cannon arranged for concerted population movements to the designated exits, properly entitles one to use the word 'ghastly' as describing the nature of Gen. DeWitt's plan."

So far the War Department has not acted on Judge Denman's pleas, despite the fact that he has also pointed out that Tokyo, with a similar fire hazard, has been training for a year on how to get its residents out of the city.

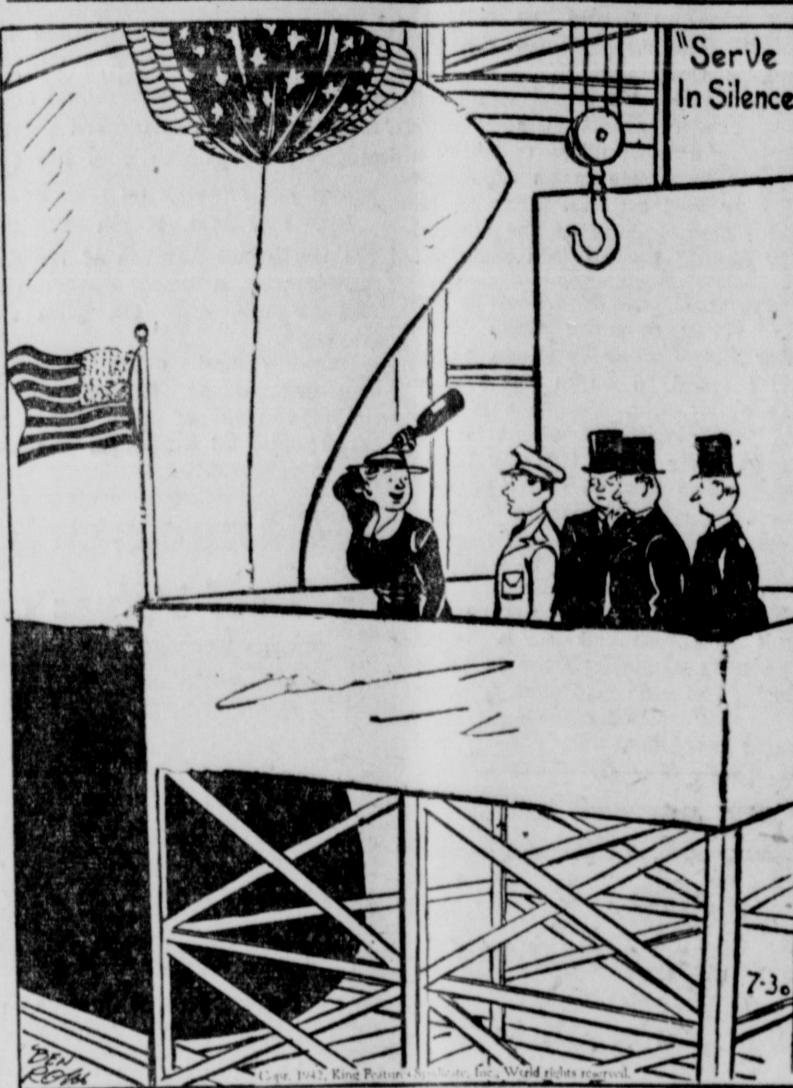

Failing to get action from the War Department, Judge Denman recently has been sending a wire every day not only to the Secretary of War but to Navy and State Department officials warning them of what may be in store for San Francisco if action is not taken immediately.

Results of Treatment Of Nervous Patients

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WE ALL know the nervous person, the neurotic, the hypochondriac, the one who is always complaining, yet never really sick. They are tired, or they have poor

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Digestion, or they are bilious, or they are eternally worrying about something that never happens, or mostly they are worrying about some part of their body.

They comprise a large part of any group of patients that the general practitioner sees, a large part of the patients in a clinic. And they are prone to go from doctor to doctor and they get all kinds of advice, much of which is contradictory and mixes them up and makes them worse or starts them out on a new tangent.

Do any of these patients ever get cured? Or even improved? Two New York doctors, Dr. Constance Fries and Dr. Marjory Nelson, started out to find out about this and interviewed a number of these patients five years after they began treatment in the special clinic for them in the New York Hospital Outpatient Department.

Surgery Seldom Helpful

One thing that is notable about these patients is that they are particularly susceptible to the drama of surgery. They really like to have surgical operations performed on them. It was found that in the group of psycho-neurotics compared to a group of control patients about 31 per cent of the neurotics had had a surgical operation while 11 per cent of the controls had undergone surgery. Very little of the surgery on the neurotics did any good; the old complaints returned after the surgical operation and often two or three others grew where only one had been before.

In examining these patients five years after treatment began, it was found that in about 14 per cent the original diagnosis was incorrect and that a real organic disease was present. Considering how many doctors believe that in these patients organic disease is present but missed by careless examination, and considering how universally the patients say, "I really am sick. I have something the matter with me but you can't find it, that's all," this is a surprisingly low figure. Eighty-six per cent went on for five years but nobody ever found anything really the matter with them.

Incidentally, to show the tendency these patients have to go to doctors, 81 per cent went to five clinics and 18 per cent went to five to 20 clinics.

At the end of five years, 40 per cent of the patients showed no improvement; 22 per cent were improved; 4 per cent were cured. Some were worse and some had been incorrectly diagnosed.

One conclusion that stands out from this study is that such a patient should have but one physician or go to only one clinic. The tendency to shop around for medical care is not only wasteful, but is really detrimental to the patient's best interests. The one physician selected should go with the patient in consultation whenever consultation with another doctor is deemed advisable. These people particularly need to be guided from one control.

"That's hard to say. If Andrew likes it, he'll probably lose no time in letting me know."

"I hope it'll be soon. I want to make some improvements on the farmhouse and that takes money."

Silence again. A little, white cloud took on size and a slight grayish cover, and slid across the sun. When it did, the world seemed suddenly to become a depressed sort of place.

"Looks like rain," Dian said.

"Maybe we'd better be getting back to town."

"But the wienies?" Bill said. "We haven't broiled them yet."

"I don't feel in a wienie mood," said Dian. "But if you insist, we'd better be seeing to them."

She started to swim back to the island, Bill following her. "Are you two ready for the wienie roast?" she called out to Paul and Claire as she walked toward them.

"I don't think I could eat another bite of anything," said Paul. He glanced upward at the sky. "Besides, it's clouding up. We'll get chilled through if we're caught out here with nothing on but our bathing suits. Maybe we'd better be packing up."

"Darn it all," said Claire. "I wanted to stay out until the moon came up."

"The moon," said Dian, "doesn't last until late. And if we keep getting cloudy, there won't be any moon at all."

"Oh, all right." Claire said reluctantly.

"If you two want to be wet blankets, I suppose we'll have to go." She smiled at Bill. "I did want to stay until night, though."

She added, "and sing around the campfire. Bill, can people really start fires by rubbing sticks together?"

"So I've heard," Bill said. "Ask Paul, he knows."

"Of course they can," said Paul. He turned to Claire. "But for Pete's sake, don't get the idea that's the way we start fires in the West Indies," he added. "Believe it or not, we have electric lights, and we take baths in honest-to-goodness tubs."

"Really?" said Claire in an exasperating tone.

"Yes, really," said Paul, in an equally exasperating tone.

MONROE TO FILM

Juiciest film plum ever drawn by a radio bandleader is the one which Vaughn Monroe snared from MGM for 1943. Vaughn, heard with his orchestra over CBS Monday nights, has been informed that his co-stars will be two of the most glamorous gals of Hollywood's glamour brigade: Lana Turner and Ginger Rogers. So that Vaughn won't have to cope alone with all this dazzling feminine charm, MGM will also have Fred Astaire in the picture. In addition to acting, Vaughn will have a singing role and his entire band will be featured. The reason the picture doesn't get started until 1943 is because of Monroe's previously contracted appearances at New York's Hotel Commodore from October 1 to December 31.

RATING HIGH

"Mr. District Attorney," heard on NBC Wednesdays at 9:30 p.m., has now climbed up to the number one half-hour program in radio, according to the latest CAB ratings. And in the Hooper survey of mid-July, "Mr. D. A." is third in popularity of all radio programs. Ed Byron, writer-director of the series, evidently found this just the kind of good news to hasten his convalescence from an operation, for he's to leave the hospital this week. Jerry Devine, co-author with Byron of the scripts, is also handling direction during the latter's absence.

SONG PRAISED

Jerry Dunkle has returned to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Dunkle, of Columbus after spending a week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Turner Pontius, of Pickaway township.

During the business session in charge of Mrs. J. C. Rader, president, it was announced that $608.58 had been cleared at the recent lawn fete at the church, the money being used for paying on indebtedness incurred in the recent remodeling of the school building for a community recreation center.

After transaction of current business, the meeting was turned to Miss Ruth H. McKenzie, chairman of the program committee, who conducted games in which all participated.

Lunch was served in the cafeteria by Mrs. Mary Crum, chairman of the hospitality committee, assisted by Mrs. Edmund Landis, Mrs. Tom Jeffries, Mrs. J. I. Smith Sr., Mrs. Anna Chandler, Miss Evangelia Smith, Mrs. John Moore Sr., Miss Elizabeth Smith, Mrs. Sam McKenzie and Mrs. J. S. Smith.

Situated in Monroe Township, County of Pickaway and State of Ohio, containing 28.85 acres of land, more or less and being a part of Survey No. 4283 in the Virginia Military District, being a part of the state of which Hulda Lewis was seized at the time of her death.

UNFAIR PREJUDICE

One of the most important new war plants is that for the manufacture of basic magnesium, now under construction at Las Vegas, Nev. Magnesium is used with aluminum to make an alloy for airplane construction, and it is also used in the manufacture of incendiary bombs.

But in the Las Vegas project, an incendiary bomb of another character has already exploded. Its repercussions were heard even in Cabinet meeting when Jesse Jones told the President how race prejudice had been allowed to interfere with defense construction.

There are 10,000 workers on the Las Vegas project, of whom 1,100 are Negroes. A group of white workers declared they would not work unless the Negroes were discharged.

Jesse Jones is from Texas, but he has no such prejudice as this.

The Las Vegas project is being built with RFC funds, and he wants no interference with the work. So he laid the matter squarely before the President with the suggestion that Federal action might be desirable.

For the moment, the snarl is left for local authorities to untangle. If they fail, it will be time for Federal intervention. But if they do fail another tangle arises. For if Federal troops should be called in, the nearest force, two or three miles away, is a regiment of Negroes.

The prayer of said petition is for the removal of the debts and charges aforesaid.

The persons first above mentioned will further take notice that they have been made parties defendant in said petition and are required to answer the same on or before the 22nd day of August, 1942.

Draft Boards Trading Files

Hocking County Group To Classify All Of Pickaway Selective Service Officials

Pickaway and Hocking county draft officials, including all members of draft boards, examining physicians, examining dentists, government appeal agent, members of the advisory board for registrants and any others who aid in any way in handling Selective Service machinery, have traded registration files under a cooperative ruling of state officials.

Pickaway draft authorities' classifications will be handled by Hocking county board in Logan and files of the Hocking board members will be processed by the local board.

Under Selective Service law no draft board may consider the status of its own members. Pickaway and Hocking were designated to trade files.

A statement issued by Selective Service authorities says:

"Regulations provide that local board is disqualified to consider classification of any registrant who is a member, examining physician, examining dentist, government appeal agent, associate government appeal agent, member of an advisory board for registrants,

250 APPLY FOR LOAN ON WHEAT IN COUNTY AREA

About 250 farmers have applied to date for government loans on their wheat through the AAA office. This is approximately the same number as filed this time last year but the deadline extends until December 1 and officials expect to receive an additional 1,000 requests in the remaining time. Last year the total was 1,088.

Under the government plan farmers may receive a loan of $1.25 a bushel for their number two wheat at a rate of three percent interest. In case the farmers can not sell their wheat in the future for prices that would cover this mortgage, they may sell it to the Commodity Credit Corporation which covers the loan price and also grants the farmer seven cents a bushel for storage costs during the time he has kept the grain.

No reports are being received on farmers who have not threshed their grain and it is believed that the work has been completed with thousands of bushels of the grain in storage bins and elevators all over the county.

Three teachers have been announced to fill teaching vacancies in the Amanda system. The school board at a recent meeting employed Flora Brewer, a resident of Lancaster who has been teaching at the Boys' Industrial School, as English instructor; Miss Winogene Foster, Thornville, a graduate of Muskingum college, as teacher for sciences; and Miss Jeanne Putterbaugh, Greenville, a graduate of Capital university, as music instructor.

LEGION LEADER TO ENTER ARMY

James T. Shea, Veteran Of Marine Corps, Accepted For More Service

James T. Shea, East Main street, a veteran of the United States Marine Corps in World War I, will return to service in Uncle Sam's Army after he completes a 14-day furlough following acceptance by Army officials.

He went into service through Selective Service channels after trying to enlist again as a Marine, but failing to pass rigid Marine Corps physical examinations.

Mr. Shea has been one of Circleville's most active war veterans. He is serving his second consecutive term as commander of Howard Hall post, American Legion, is a member of the Circleville Civilian Defense Council and captain of the Pickaway county highway patrol auxiliary corps.

He has been employed as a bookkeeper in the office of County Auditor Forrest Short.

VICE QUESTION AIRED AT MEET IN CAPITAL CITY

Group of local law enforcement officers, who attended a meeting called by the FBI in Columbus Wednesday, heard testimony on the vice situation in Columbus and the surrounding territory.

Various state health workers and members of the Fifth Service Command spoke at the session and disclosed the serious threat of social disease now facing camps in and around Franklin county.

More than 100 of the police department representatives went on record as approving action to combat vice and assured Army officials that they would do all in their power to eliminate the threat.

Colonel Baldinger, of the Lockbourne air base, was the only witness at a state liquor control hearing Wednesday on the revocation of the license of the Brysonian dance hall. The board took the request under advisement but no definite action was announced. The Army head stated that he was not a prohibitionist but "objected to the proximity of drinking and dancing place" to his camp.

Question: When is a registrant's selection imminent?

Answer: It is the opinion of State Headquarters that registrants who were married while in Class I pending physical examination, Class I-A, I-B, 2-A or 2-B, were married when selection was imminent.

The President, in appeal cases, has ruled that registrants who were married at a time when they were in Classes 3-A or 3-B, and who abandoned the dependency for which they had secured deferment, were married at a time when selection was imminent.

It is State Headquarters opinion that men married before September 16, 1940 can not be held to be married when selection was imminent.

It is State Headquarters opinion that men married before September 16, 1940 can not be held to be married when selection was imminent.

Question: What is the classification of a registrant married after December 8, 1941?

Answer: If otherwise qualified, he should be placed in Class I-A. Dependency of, or family relationship with, wife shall not be considered.

Question: Can the dependency of a child born or conceived after December 8, 1941, be considered?

Answer: Yes, if marriage was not contracted at a time when selection was imminent, dependency of a child born or conceived after December 8, 1941, may be granted full consideration.

Question: In what classification should a registrant be placed where it appears that he was married prior to September 16, 1940 and whose wife is earning an amount sufficient to support herself, or more than enough to support herself, or who has an independent source of income?

Answer: Class 3-A or 3-B until further notice. Such registrants shall be classified according to family relationship and not on financial dependency.

OUR WAY of re-roofing is the safest way of all. First we go over your old roof and nail down thoroughly all loose and broken shingles, and fill up all open places. Then we apply genuine Log-Long slate-surfaced shingles right over the old roof—and it's on to stay. In this method of re-roofing, the interior of your home is not exposed to rain and weather, as it would be if the old shingles were first ripped off. Our way is quicker, neater, safer. And it saves you money in two ways: First, there is no labor cost in taking off the old shingles. Second, you save on heating bills, because your old roof stays on and helps insulate your home against cold. Also, it helps keep the sun's heat out in summer. But let us give you more information about this modern way of re-roofing: phone us now.

Draft Boards Trading Files

Hocking County Group To Classify All Of Pickaway Selective Service Officials

Pickaway and Hocking county draft officials, including all members of draft boards, examining physicians, examining dentists, government appeal agent, members of the advisory board for registrants and any others who aid in any way in handling Selective Service machinery, have traded registration files under a cooperative ruling of state officials.

Pickaway draft authorities' classifications will be handled by Hocking county board in Logan and files of the Hocking board members will be processed by the local board.

Under Selective Service law no draft board may consider the status of its own members. Pickaway and Hocking were designated to trade files.

A statement issued by Selective Service authorities says:

"Regulations provide that local board is disqualified to consider classification of any registrant who is a member, examining physician, examining dentist, government appeal agent, associate government appeal agent, member of an advisory board for registrants,

250 APPLY FOR LOAN ON WHEAT IN COUNTY AREA

About 250 farmers have applied to date for government loans on their wheat through the AAA office. This is approximately the same number as filed this time last year but the deadline extends until December 1 and officials expect to receive an additional 1,000 requests in the remaining time. Last year the total was 1,058.

Under the government plan farmers may receive a loan of $1.25 a bushel for their number two wheat at a rate of three percent interest. In case the farmers can not sell their wheat in the future for prices that would cover this mortgage, they may sell it to the Commodity Credit Corporation which covers the loan price and also grants the farmer seven cents a bushel for storage costs during the time he has kept the grain.

No reports are being received on farmers who have not threshed their grain and it is believed that the work has been completed with thousands of bushels of the grain in storage bins and elevators all over the county.
